RELYCO Selected as Exclusive Supplier of Temporary License Plates for Illinois

Dover, NH, September 9, 2024 – RELYCO, a leader in secure document solutions, has officially become the exclusive provider of temporary license plates for the state of Illinois. This partnership solidifies RELYCO's position as the go-to source for states looking to enhance security, streamline processes and combat fraud in their vehicle registration systems.

For more than three decades, RELYCO has built its reputation by delivering far more than just products—it's about offering comprehensive, end-to-end solutions that solve real-world challenges. In Illinois, RELYCO's expertise is not simply filling a gap, but transforming how temporary license plates are managed. With the integration of REVLAR, their industry-leading synthetic paper, RELYCO ensures that every plate can withstand even the harshest conditions, maintaining integrity, legibility and security from issuance to expiration.

REVLAR is engineered for durability, but the real power lies in RELYCO's holistic approach to temporary plate management. From secure e-commerce platforms that simplify online ordering to a sophisticated fulfillment and distribution network, RELYCO ensures the entire lifecycle of the plate is secure. Their solution not only reduces fraud but also improves operational efficiency, allowing jurisdictions to stay ahead of evolving threats with ease.

"At RELYCO, we pride ourselves on being more than just a supplier—we're a partner in creating smarter, safer systems," said Bruce Steinberg, CEO of RELYCO. "Our solutions are designed to integrate seamlessly into existing operations while providing a level of security that today's environment demands. Illinois is just the latest example of how we're helping states modernize their temporary plate programs."

RELYCO's advanced technology incorporates multiple layers of security, including both visible and covert features designed to prevent tampering and forgery. By providing a secure process from start to finish, RELYCO allows states to control every stage of the temporary plate lifecycle. This level of precision ensures that fraudulent activity is significantly minimized, making it easier for law enforcement and government agencies to manage and protect vehicle identification systems.

As a leader in secure document solutions, RELYCO is at the forefront of innovation, helping governments across the nation future-proof their vehicle registration processes. Illinois joins a growing list of jurisdictions turning to RELYCO to bolster the security of their systems while enhancing overall efficiency. By choosing RELYCO, states are investing in a long-term solution that evolves with the needs of modern governance.
