

Built for Grocery's Toughest Areas

From produce departments and seafood counters to refrigerated cases and deli displays, grocery signage faces constant moisture, handling and daily wear. Traditional paper signs quickly curl, smear or break down—creating extra work for store teams and a less polished customer experience.

RELYCO waterproof synthetic paper helps grocery stores maintain clean, durable signage designed to perform in demanding retail environments.

REVLAR® Synthetic Paper: Durable Signage for Refrigerated Environments

REVLAR is designed to keep grocery signage looking sharp through refrigeration, misting systems and constant customer handling.

Ideal for:

- Produce and seafood signage
- Shelf talkers and sale displays
- Cooler and freezer signage
- Deli and prepared foods signage
- Hanging aisle signage
- Seasonal promotions

Unlike laminated paper, REVLAR resists curling, tearing and fading while remaining easy to print in-house on standard laser printers.

Waterproof Labels Designed for Daily Grocery Operations

Labels often fail long before the product does. REVLAR waterproof labels stay clear and durable across departments where moisture, refrigeration and handling are unavoidable.

Ideal applications include:

- Grab-and-go packaging
- Bakery and deli labels
- Cooler and freezer labels
- Inventory and barcode labels
- Promotional product labels

Available with removable or permanent adhesives to support a wide range of retail applications.

Less Laminating. More Durable Signage.

Grocery stores move fast, and signage needs change constantly. From weekly promotions and seasonal displays to refrigerated pricing and department updates, materials need to be easy to print and built to last.

RELYCO durable paper solutions help grocery stores reduce:

- Signs damaged by produce misting systems
- Labels peeling in refrigerated cases
- Constant sign replacement
- Paper signage ruined by wet handling
- Promotional signage that curls or fades

Because REVLAR prints in-house on standard laser printers, stores can quickly create durable signage on demand without waiting on outsourced production or lamination.

“The REVLAR Premium and the labels have been such a blessing for our process. We used to laminate every procedure we would post in a client facility. Now it’s as easy as printing on the REVLAR, punching a hole, and using a cable tie to put it in place. It has really streamlined our process plus it’s durable to the elements, doesn’t pull down easily and looks great! I can’t recommend it enough!”

Print What You Need When You Need It.

REVLAR allows grocery teams to produce durable signage in-house using standard laser printers, making it easier to update pricing, seasonal promotions and department signage without delays.

No outsourcing. No lamination. No waiting for replacement signs.

Just durable signage designed for real grocery environments.
